

Eurobase unveils new underwriting software innovation, iSynergy.

Product advancement that delivers clear competitive advantage

London, UK – July 1st, 2009: Eurobase Insurance Solutions is launching a new and exciting software development to complement its already well established Synergy underwriting solutions range. This ground-breaking development enables every user to bring together the essential real-time information that is needed to support their business role, on a single screen. This includes users within the organisation and users at trusted third parties such as brokers and other trading partners.

iSynergy will revolutionise the way in which the insurance and reinsurance sector responds to customer demands and industry trends throughout the entire distribution chain, improving customer service delivery and boosting revenue opportunities by making insurers and reinsurers easier to do business with.

iSynergy is designed to simplify information retrieval, consolidation and presentation from a myriad of domestic and global system sources, irrespective of where it resides within the global IT infrastructure. This encompasses systems serving insurers, reinsurers, underwriting pools, syndicates, brokers and networks, bureau services, MGAs, consumers, regulators, aggregator sites, placing portals, outsourced service providers and many more.

iSynergy uses software adaptors to overcome the challenges of extracting data generated in different formats, delivering meaningful business-critical information direct to the desktop and in the way that recipients want to see it. Whether a CEO, finance officer, underwriter, CIO, claims adjuster or broker, iSynergy's smart software recognises users when they log on and automatically populates the system screen with iSynergy components and portlets, as specified in their individual profiles. Each user can mix and match static and real-time displays in line with their professional responsibilities and preferences, moving rapidly from one source to another without the need to log in and out of disparate applications.

Kevin Richmond, Eurobase Insurance Products Director, comments: "application and data integration is an aspiration for every insurance carrier in order to deliver the first class service and better informed decision making. iSynergy now means that real-time workplace collaboration can now become reality."
